

To Members of the Faculty:

As you may have noticed, your email storage quota has recently been increased. We are pleased to announce that the new email storage quota for all USC faculty has been raised to 1 gigabyte (on email.usc.edu). We hope that this increase in storage capacity will better support your research and teaching needs.

Please note that the new email quota applies to faculty and staff only. Students will have the option, in the spring semester, to migrate their email to USC-branded Google accounts, where the storage quota will be 2 gigabytes.

Sincerely,

Ilee Rhimes
