

PROVOST'S OFFICE OF UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS
Fund For Innovative Undergraduate Teaching (FIUT)

FIUT Informational Breakfast

Presentations by Recent FIUT Award Winners

Followed by Q&A

Thursday, January 21, 2010

7:30 – 9:00 AM

University Club Banquet Room

FIUT Afternoon Tea / Q & A

Bring your Draft Proposal

Wednesday, January 27, 2010

3:30 – 4:30 PM

University Club, Room A

Sponsors:

USC Center for Excellence in Teaching, Office of Undergraduate Programs, &
The University Club

Seats are Limited RSVP by January 16, 2010 to: coyle@usc.edu subject line FIUT_breakfast or FIUT_Tea or(213) 821-3925

THE LEVAN INSTITUTE

FOR HUMANITIES AND ETHICS

BRINGING ETHICS INTO THE CLASSROOM: workshop for faculty and teaching assistants

January 21, 2010

1-3 p.m.

Doheny Library Intellectual Commons

Featuring Dallas Willard (USC College, Professor of Philosophy)

Lyn Boyd Judson (Levan Institute, Director)

Shlomo Sher (Levan Institute, Research Associate)

Ethical issues play a significant role in every subject across the university curriculum, but ethics discussions are absent from most classrooms. The task of presenting and discussing such issues in a course not explicitly dedicated to topics in ethics can be intimidating - particularly given the multi-cultural makeup of our student body. There are, however, plenty of tools at your disposal to tackle this essential aspect of preparing your students as future citizens and professionals.

The workshop will:

- Examine strategies for incorporating ethics into your courses.
- Introduce you to the new Levan Online Ethics Resources Center, where you can find tips for effective teaching, ready-made lesson plans, and other resources to help you engage ethical topics effectively in your courses.

Please RSVP to uscet@usc.edu with Ethics as the subject line