STATUS

This is the seventy-first biannual Newsletter of the IMRC and follows the last issue which appeared in August of last year. The information presented here relates primarily to events connected with the IMRC during the fall and winter of 2015. For the benefit of new readers, data on the present structure of the IMRC are given on the last page of this issue. IMRC Newsletters for 1979-2013 are available electronically and can be requested via e-mail at imrc@usc.edu. A full run can be supplied on a CD disc (containing a searchable version in Microsoft Word) at a cost of $25.00, shipping included (add $5.00 for overseas airmail).

RUSSIA

Most would agree that the Moscow metro is perhaps the most impressive mass transit system in the world. With fast and regular trains, with stations of great artistry, and with a vast daily clientèle overtaking that of the London, New York, and Tokyo subways, the Moscow metro is a model of efficiency, technological perfection, and esthetic gratification. Indeed, it is hard to think of Moscow functioning without the metro which has become such an indefeasible part of the conurbation that we tend to take it for granted, dashing through the turnstile, down the escalator, on to the capacious platform, and into the crowded carriage – without ever thinking of, let alone, reading, the official “Rules for the Use of the Moscow Metropolitan”, posted in the station vestibules and train cars, which help keep the system running. The following clauses not only affirm correct behaviour in the underground paradise, but also tell us about the merits and foibles of the Russian character:

Rules for the Use of the Moscow Metropolitan (extracts)

The Metro is one of the basic kinds of urban passenger transport, of which many stations are monuments of history, culture, and architecture and they are safeguarded by the state. The territory of the Metro encompasses stations and underground passes, inter-station tunnels and open areas, electricity substations, depots and ventilation shafts as well as the train cars.
Individuals who find themselves on the territory of the Metro should be mutually polite, give up their seats to the handicapped, the elderly, passengers with children, and women, observe cleanliness and civic order, and treat the structures and equipment of the Metro with care.

Each piece of luggage with total dimensions of between 121 and 150 cms must be paid for. Each passenger is entitled to no more than two pieces for luggage.

Children up to seven years of age go free as do skis and skates (covered), children’s bicycles, sledges, fishing rods, musical instruments, and small gardening tools as long as they do not exceed the dimensions indicated in Paragraph 2.10.1 of the Rules. 2.5.1.

It is forbidden:
To drink beer or other beer based products or alcoholic or spirit products, take narcotics or psycho-pharmaceutical items or enter [the Metro] in an inebriated condition;
To move around the stations or underground passages by motorcycle, bicycle, skateboards, skates or any other means of transport, except for wheelchairs;
Walk around stations barefoot;
Use loudspeakers, apart from hearing aids;
Enter in dirty or soiled clothes or with luggage, objects, and products (including drinks and open tubs of ice cream) which might soil other passengers, the train cars, station structures, and fixtures;
Light bonfires less than ten meters away from the perimeter of the Metro or in areas inside the Metro or on the above ground lines of the Metro and also no less than 25 meters from the ventilation cabins;
Pester citizens with offers of buying and selling, exchanges or palmistry.....

THE HOME FRONT

Readers are urged to visit the IMRC website which contains a historical overview as well as detailed commentaries on the holdings of the IMRC Archive and Library, including Special Collections. For example, through sound, image and word, the website describes the Ferris Collection of Sovietica, the Lev Ladyzhensky collection of books and photographs relating to Boris Pasternak, and the acoustic collection of vintage recordings. EXPERIMENT

The twentieth number of Experiment, devoted to the historical influence of Russian dance and design on the performing arts in Southern California and guest-curated by Lorin Johnson, appeared in November, 2014.
Experiment 20 is the fourth collaboration between the IMRC and Brill Publishers of Leiden, Holland, which is printing and circulating subsequent volumes. Brill makes Experiment available on-line complete with DOIs and meta tags, offering full text search, extensive linking and navigation tools, PDF downloads, and saving and printing facilities. Brill increases the visibility and, therefore, the impact of Experiment by making it available through a wide collection of major online gateways and discovery services. Experiment is also included in Brill’s online journal archive, which is sold worldwide to large libraries and library consortia. This online archive currently gives access to more than 100,000 articles. A subscription to Experiment will include access to the back files (if the customer opts for the print + electronic subscription). For information contact sales@brillusa.com or visit: www.brill.com/expt; facebook: https://www.facebook.com/brillslavic

Experiment 21, guest-edited by Ira Menchova, is a monographic issue (in Russian) containing the correspondence between the Soviet army officer Nikolai Miller (died in a concentration camp in 1940), his daughter Irina (evacuated to a children’s camp during the Leningrad blockade) and other relatives for the period 1940-47. This precious document, reflecting the trials of prison life and the blockade, was published for the first time with the kind permission of Andrei Tat. Experiment 21 contains the following sections:

RESEARCH IN PROGRESS

John E. Bowlt (Director, IMRC; and University California, Los Angeles) is co-curating (with Natal’ia Avtonomova) a retrospective exhibition of Léon Bakst’s works for the State Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts, Moscow, opening in June, 2016. He is also completing an English translation of Nicoletta Misler’s study of Russian free dance, i.e Vnachale bylo telo: Ritmoplasticheskie eksperimenty nachala XX veka (Moscow, 2011), for Allemandi Publishers, Turin; and editing a collection of essays on Russian stage design for the Victoria and Albert Museum, London.
William Brumfield (Photography Section, IMRC) continues to photograph and publish on Russia’s architecture. His newest monograph is Architecture at the End of the Earth: Photographing the Russian North (Duke University Press). His current article for Russia beyond the Headlines is devoted to the Saint Sophia Cathedral in Novgorod the Great--one of the defining monuments of medieval Russian culture: http://rbth.com/arts/2016/01/22/divine-wisdom-in-novgorod-the-great_561709

For best results with the slide show (full screen), click the 4-arrow icon at lower right of photo window. This is the 142nd of his articles and photo essays on Russia's architectural and cultural heritage for the foreign-language service of the Russian national newspaper Rossiiskaia Gazeta. A unified link to the series can be found at: http://rbth.ru/discovering_russia Through this link a total of 4,172 photographs from his documentary work in Russia are now accessible.

Sarah Burke (Co-Director, IMRC; and Trinity University, San Antonio), Professor Emerita at Trinity University, continues her research into the art and literature of the Silver Age and the non-conformist movement of the 1960s-80s, especially the work of Evgenii Rukhin. She has also developed a new interest in the applied arts, especially haberdashery.

Charlotte Douglas (Esthetic Theory Section, IMRC; and New York University) has retired as president of the Malevich Society, New York, surrendering her position to Christina Lodder. Douglas was on the planning committee for the symposium “100 Years of Suprematism” held at Columbia University on 11-12 December where she read a paper entitled “Early Suprematism”. Her Swans of Other Worlds: Kazimir Malevich and The Origin of Abstraction in Russia is being published (scheduled for February 10) as an e-book for Kindle and Kindle Apps by Amazon.

Gerald Janecek (Literary Practice Section, IMRC; and University of Kentucky) has completed his book on Moscow Conceptualism and am editing it down a bit. He is also editing a collection of papers on Dmitry Prigov from a conference in Prague in December, 2014, and will be presenting a paper on turning Dostoevsky's novel Crime and Punishment into an opera, for an anniversary conference on Dostoevsky in Vancouver this October. His article on Vsevolod Nekrasov has appeared in a jubilee collection of articles dedicated to the Moscow scholar Yurii Orlitsky.

Edward Kasinec (Book Culture Section, IMRC; and NYPL Curator Emeritus and Staff Associate at the Harriman Institute, Columbia) is Hoover Visiting Fellow this academic year, exploring the visual collections at the Hoover Institution, including those of Nicholas de Basily. With Lyubov Ginsburg he published “American Humanitarian Aid and Subcarpathian Rus’” in A Jubilee Collection: Essays in Honor of Professor Paul R. Magocs; his contribution on Sergei Lifar as collector and cultural entrepreneur appeared in Lynn Garafola’s Russian Movement Culture of the 1920s ad 1930s. His exhibition, “The Lost World of Sub-Carpathian Rus’ in the Lens of Rudolf Hůlka (1887-1961)”, co-curated with Robert Scott and Filip Tuček, closed at the Harriman Institute, Columbia University, New York, in October and will be reprised at the National Czech and Slovak Museum’s Anderson Gallery, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, this winter.
Mark Konecny (Associate Director, IMRC) continues his work on Russian artists in emigration, concentrating on Russian art exhibitions in the US in the first half of the twentieth century. On September 18, he gave a paper, “The Making of an American Market for Russian Art, the Russian Exhibition at the 1904 St. Louis World’s Fair,” at the Jordan Center at New York University. He organized a lecture series, “Russian Popular Culture in Los Angeles,” at the Pasadena Senior Center in October and November. On January 20, he presented a paper on open access, institutional repositories, and librarianship in the 21st century at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville.

Sidney Monas (Cultural History Section, IMRC; Professor Emeritus at the University of Texas, Austin) continues to develop ideas about current internationalization and its contribution to the creation of a world literature. He is often in Mexico, cultivating an interest in ancient sites and religious philosophy.

Bernice Rosenthal (Philosophy and Religion Section, IMRC; and now retired from Fordham University, New York) continues to investigate philosophical and religious movements within Russian Modernism. She is finishing her book on Patterns of Decadence and is also working on a book-length comparison of trends in Russian culture during the period 1890-1917 and in the United States since the 1960s.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

It is with sadness that the IMRC reports the passing of the artist Andrei Tat (Andrei Vladimirovich Tatarovich) on 8 December, 2015, in Utah, USA, aged 63. Uncompromising in his aesthetic and civic principles, Andrei will long be remembered for his abstract compositions, intense, vivacious, kinetic.

The Malevich Society is pleased to announce its call for 2015 grant applications. Based in New York, the Malevich Society is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to advancing the knowledge about the Russian artist Kazimir Malevich and his work. In the belief that Malevich was a pioneer of modern art who should be recognized for his key contributions to the history of Modernism, the Society awards grants to encourage research, writing, and other activities related to his history and memory. The Society welcomes applications from scholars of any nationality and at various stages of their career. Graduate students are welcome to apply after completing at least one year of dissertation research. Proposed projects should increase the understanding of Malevich and his work, or augment historical, biographical, or artistic information about Malevich and/or his artistic legacy. The Society also supports translations and the publication of relevant texts. The deadline for submissions is 30 September, 2015. Application forms and instructions may be requested by telephone at 1-718-980-1805, by e-mail at info@malevichsociety.org, or may be downloaded from the Society's website: www.malevichsociety.org. Applications and all supporting documents should be submitted via e-mail to: applications@malevichsociety.org. The Malevich Society/Общество Малевича: tel. (718) 980-1805; info@malevichsociety.org
