

Our Custom Study Programs are designed for groups of twenty or more participants who would like to rapidly improve their English through an intensive study program and experience American culture while living at a prestigious American university in the heart of Los Angeles. Each program is created to the specifications of the group organizers to meet the needs of your study tour, professional enrichment or home university requirements.

Why study at USC?

The University of Southern California is not only one of the premier private institutions in the U.S., but also an educational leader for the entire Pacific Rim. With the largest international population of any American university (over 6500), USC is committed to providing a global focus for all students and a welcoming home to scholars from around the world. Custom Study participants have access to USC's state-of-the-art facilities offered by the university while they study on campus.

Why study in Los Angeles?

To truly experience American culture, why not study in her most diverse metropolis? Los Angeles offers some of America's greatest tourist attractions (Hollywood, Disneyland, Venice Beach) while also showcasing the diversity of cultures represented in the U.S. (Chinatown, Little Ethiopia, Thai Town). Custom Study groups allow students to experience all of this and more while enjoying a mild climate and beautiful sunshine.
