

USC Leonard Davis School of Gerontology

Job Posting: The Princeton Review
May 31, 2006

Job Position: The Princeton Review
Department: Grad Department

Organizational Overview:

Hopefully (on our end!) you've heard of The Princeton Review, and perhaps some of your students have taken our courses for the GRE, GMAT, LSAT or MCAT. If you haven't heard of us, information about our company and what we do is available at <http://www.princetonreview.com/>.

Job Description:

We are looking for SAT, GRE, GMAT, LSAT and MCAT teachers, and were hoping that you could forward this email to any of your advisees you think might be interested. Basically, we need energetic, motivated people who have scored, or think they can score, in the 95% or above on the standardized test they want to teach (we can give them practice tests for assessment if they haven't taken the real tests yet or if they can't remember their SAT scores.) Teaching for us is a great part-time job for a college student – we pay well, the work is fun, and the experience looks good on any resume. Teachers can work as few as three hours per week, or as many as 30 or 40 during the summer (if they're good teachers!).

Contact:

Please have interested candidates contact us at 1-800-2REVIEW, or fill out applications on our website at <http://www.princetonreview.com/>.