

The Department of French and Italian & The Department of Comparative Literature
The Francophone Research and Resource Center

PRESENT

PROJECT *BANLIEUE

FRENCH PERI/URBAN CULTURES AND CRISES

Interdisciplinary reflections on the 2005 riots in France and the dynamics of contemporary banlieue cultural life

LAURENT DUBREUIL

FEB 20TH THH170 NOON

FREE LUNCH FOR THOSE WHO RSVP BY FEB 17TH TO

frc@usc.edu

Picture-<http://www.jr-art.net>

« NOTES TOWARDS A POETICS OF BANLIEUE »

Laurent Dubreuil is a Professor of Comparative Literature & Romance Studies and Director of the French Studies Program at Cornell University. He holds an Agrégation as well as a Doctorate in literature and a second Doctorate in philosophy and women's studies. His research interests include French and Francophone literature, continental theory, philosophy and social thought.

This event is co-sponsored by:

The French Cultural Services in Los Angeles, USC Libraries,
Department of American Studies and Ethnicity, Department of Sociology,
Center for International Studies, School of International Relations, Center for Law, History, and Culture

usc College
OF LETTERS, ARTS & SCIENCES

For more information about this event, please contact:
frc@usc.edu or edwinhil@usc.edu