

RESEARCH SEMINAR SERIES2000-2001

Date	Speaker	Topic
September 6, 2000	Stuart Gabriel	Labor Market Segmentation and Returns on Human Capital in Urban China
September 20, 2000	Tridib Banerjee	The Political and Social Order of Sprawl: Rethinking Los Angeles Urban Form
October 4, 2000	Juliet Musso	The Politics of Neighborhood Council Implementation in Los Angeles: Challenges to Participation in a Global City
October 18, 2000	Charles Cicchetti	The Blame Game, Using Quantitative Methods and Conceptual Approaches to Umpire: Tobacco Responsibility, Midwest Gasoline Prices and California's Electricity Mess
November 1, 2000	Gen Giuliano	Public Transit and Mobility of the Poor
November 15, 2000	Greg Hise with Bill Deverell	Eden by Design: The 1930 Olmsted-Bartholomew Plan for the Los Angeles Region
December 6, 2000	Harry W. Richardson	America's Future? Compactness or Sprawl
December 13, 2000	Bob Biller with Robert Tranquada, Gary Painter, Ariel Ramirez, and Pablo Valencia	Do Investments in Operational Improvements in the Health and Environmental Sectors Produce Measurable Impacts on the Economic Development of Chile?
January 17, 2001	Koichi Mera	Decentralization and Capacity Building: Selecting Modes of Training in Indonesia
January 31, 2001	Harry P. Pachon	Towards Understanding the California Latino Vote
February 21, 2001	San Chuel Choe	Greenbelts and Other Growth Management Issues in a Comparative International Context
	Stephen A. Magnus	Agency Implications of Debt in Not-for-Profit Hospitals
March 21, 2001	Stephanie Pincetl	Developing and Integrating New Tools for Urban Land-Use Planning
March 28, 2001	Howard Greenwald	Polling and Policy Analysis as Resources for Advocacy
April 11, 2001	Kenkichi Nagao	Inter-firm Linkages in Industrial Districts in Japan: A Case of Higashi-Osaka District
April 25, 2001	H. Brinton Milward	Managing the Hollow State: Contracting and Collaboration